

[G] Abstract of the Disclosure

A methodology/system to electronically store the binary structure of Digital Audio Music onto a conventional hard disk in a configuration which enables electronic sales, distribution, storage, manipulation, retrieval, playback, and copyright protection of such Digital Audio Music. This invention expands upon and integrates prior inventions relating to stereo systems and microcomputers to form an advanced stereo system.

Submitted by:

Arthur Robert Hair

August 8, 1990